

Hell 101

By Robin Lipinski

It's been said that Hell is hot while Hel of Norse mythology is ice cold, what gives?
It's been said that bad people die to suffer for eternity, while good people are borne into bliss.
It's been said that Satan hates God, even tempting Jesus that little devil did.
It's been said that demons prowl about the earth looking for souls to deal, corrupt and full of sin.
It's been said that there is a war of the heavens coming; I wonder how times this has been.
It's been said that there is no Satan or God, only what resides in man's head.
It's been said that bad is good and good is bad, and that's just in the political world.
It's been said that sex before marriage is wrong yet after marriage there is no sex.
It's been said that teachers know best and I say, who says?
It's been said that Jesus will return; yet only the Father knows when.
It's been said that after 1000 years, the Devil will hang, or at least his head.
It's been said that eternal damnation and torment exists...

Many things have been said and heard, but how many things have been truly felt, truly real?
In our knowledge of being ignorant, it is hard to see the truth.
Even with our eyes looking through the dark with electricity, we miss an important part.

Often times the most important things in life are in front of us, and yet we do not see or feel.
Well, I have seen the Light,
The Truth,
What's real.

When I look into my hazel eyes,
Without flinching, blinking, or doubt,
Cast by the reflecting pool of Truth,
I truly see Evil.

The End