

Silence

By Robin B Lipinski

When times are great and it goes your way,
You babble.

When times are bad and it all goes wrong,
You rage,

When times are coasting and it all seems natural,
You speak so many words, it fills a day.

When actually it is best to be quiet and smile,
You will make others around you feel the same way.

The End