

Talent Squandered

By Robin B Lipinski

To piss away the joy of drink, you may think this is the natural way.

To defecate the taste of food, it goes in better than it goes away.

Natural results tend our lives each and everyday.

Submitting written work of labor, caressed dearly, then sent away, is like having sex with pictures, it is my least favorite way.

A lonely teen dreaming, turning page by page, longing for the release as the pictures tease.

Better there is a living partner, it is a better way.

Writing and interaction, connection with a living brain.

This is the style to my liking.

A much, much, much, better way.

The End
